

A Century of Service

Electricity “rode in by rail” in Indiana with electric rail cars like this one. That was the beginning of our state’s power network and Duke Energy’s Indiana operations. In 2012 we commemorate “A Century of Service and Innovation.” From the days of the electric railways until now, the company has helped power the state’s economy, history, and community life.

01/12C