Andrew Mroz

Mr. Mroz joined DukeNet Communication Services, LLC (“DNCS”) in May 2008 where he currently serves as the Business Development Manager, Southeast. Andrew is responsible for customer relations, business development and site deployment services for the Southeast territory covering North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia. Since joining DNCS, Andrew has assisted in the integration and optimization of 57 acquired tower sites in the Southeast. Andrew has increased the lease up revenue on DNCS Southeast tower sites by collocating a variety of tenants that include national and regional wireless carriers, wireless internet services providers and government agencies.

Prior to joining DNCS, Andrew worked for AT&T Towers managing a tower portfolio of 1,500 towers. Andrew was responsible for marketing and business development for the Southeast region including Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Tennessee.

Andrew has also worked for Global Signal and Spectrasite Communications, where he managed customer relations, marketing, and business development in the Mid-Atlantic region. Andrew began his career in the wireless industry in 1996 performing site acquisition services for major carriers in the Mid-Atlantic.

Andrew holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Business Management from the University of Maryland.
