

Lower Your Winter Bill

Take steps now to manage your heating costs.

Improve your home's energy efficiency with Duke Energy's online tools and energy-saving tips. We also offer billing plans designed to help you better budget for heating bills this winter season.

Budget Billing

Eliminate month-to-month surprises by enrolling in Duke Energy's Budget Billing program.

Budget Billing provides you with a consistent bill amount and gives you a head start on managing your energy bills this winter and beyond. Quarterly and annual plans are available. To learn more about the program or to enroll:

- visit www.duke-energy.com, or
- call 1.866.2ENERGY

At www.duke-energy.com you'll find

- A link to our year-round Energy Savings page at www.duke-energy.com/savings
- Energy efficiency videos that show you how to lower household energy costs
- Audit tools, calculators and the Home Energy House Call

Online Energy Calculators

Our Home Energy Calculator and Appliance Calculator provide an interactive experience that takes just a few minutes to complete.

- Home Energy Calculator provides estimated energy savings if you were to upgrade your heating or cooling systems, add insulation or make other energy improvements.
- Appliance Calculator estimates the average cost to run the major appliances in your home.

Assistance Programs

- Indiana Home Weatherization provides free home energy improvements for customers meeting income qualifications. For more details, visit www.incap.org or call Duke Energy at 800.521.2232.
- Energy Assistance Program (EAP) is available to help low-income customers with winter heating bills. Applications are processed through community action agencies.
- Helping Hand is a Duke Energy matching assistance program that helps eligible customers with their winter bills. For more details on how to apply, contact the Indiana Community Action Association at 800.382.9895.
