Wabash River Station neighbor update
Upcoming Implosion Event at Wabash River Station

As your neighbor, we want to keep you updated about activities underway at the retired Wabash River Station. As part of our work to demolish structures at the plant, we are planning to implode the plant’s smokestack between Jan. 26 and 31.

The implosion event is weather permitting and will be rescheduled, if necessary. While the brief noise from this event may be audible near the site, we do not expect any significant impacts to the community. We will work closely with state regulators, local law enforcement and emergency management to ensure site safety and security during the implosion event.

For safety and security reasons, public viewing areas will not be provided for this event. A video of the implosion will be made publicly available following the event. We remind you to heed safety signage and installed fencing around the plant for your own safety and for the safety of those working on the site.

Thank you for your support and cooperation as we work to dismantle the plant safely and continue our efforts to modernize power plants across the state. You can find additional information about our decommissioning program at duke-energy.com/coal-decommissioning and updates about activity at the Wabash River site at duke-energy.com/WabashRiver.

Best regards,

Rick Burger
Government and Community Relations Manager, Duke Energy